PIANOS.

GAINED FIRST PREMIUM FOR GREATEST merit at the New Orleans Cotton Centennial and WORLD'S Exposition for refined and wonderful power of tone, elegance of design, and superb finish. Only piano endorsed by United States commissioners, from each of the States. Cases finest carved, rosewood finish, finest imported double repeating action—three strings throughout of best patent steel wire—keys best ivory. Our new patent steel tuning device, instead of wood, is the greatest invention ever made in pianos. It consists of stationary STEEL tuning pins that are set in a mold and molten STEEL is run round the pins keeping them solidly in place. A thimble or shell pin is made to exactly fit the stationary pin revolving thereon; thus the strings wind round the pins. After the strings are properly stretched the piano can never get out of tune, the rest plank being of STEEL not affected by extremes of climate. This will be appreciated by all musicians in city or country. It will stand twenty years without tuning and is good for 100. No other piano has this improvement.

Great strength and durability is another advantage. In other pianos holes are bored in wooden boards and tuning pins inserted. The pins turn round in this board and cannot stand permanently in tune, and it often cracks, splits, dries out, becoming utterly, totally and entirely worthless as a musical instrument. Our STEEL tuning device is in no way affected by such casualities, and the sounding board is so constructed that our pianos can never become thin or metallic in tone. They are always in tune and the expense of tuning is saved. This patent alone is worth millions and makes our piano the greatest in the world. Prices are no higher than other pianos. Buying direct from us, the largest manufacturers, you save $100 or $200—dealers' profits. Don't mind the ominous groanings of dealers and agents, who see their chances of selling a poor piano at a big profit of $200—slipping away—pity them.

We guarantee our pianos ten years. 200 styles. We have put our prices at lowest bed-rock for Cash.

A $600 Piano for $259.50; a $900 Piano for $287.50; a $1200 Piano for $375.50; a $1500 Piano for $475.50.

Upright Cabinet Grands, with stool and rubber cover shipped on board cars at S. F., to any part of the United States, Canada or Mexico. Our terms are cash with order. If not as represented money returned. We occassionally have good second hand pianos, made over at $100 to $300, which we take in part payment for our own. Write or call for catalogue, free.

ANXIOUS ABOUT HIS MAIL.

An Englishman in Chicago Wants a Pull, So He Can Send Letters Home.

A plain looking Englishman who is at the Palmer house asked so many questions of the people about the hotel since his arrival that the clerks hide when he appears in the office. Yesterday morning he cornered Thomas O'Brien, the room clerk, and asked where the postmaster lived.

"I can't tell you, sir," replied the clerk. "The postoffice is at Clark and Adams streets."

"Then the postmaster is apt to be there?"

"Yes, sir."

"Who is he?"

"Col. Sexton,

"Nice fellow?"

"None better."

"I want to transact some business with him, and would rather know a bit about the man before going over to his office."

"You will find him a thorough gentleman."

"I say, won't you kindly jot down a line to him recommending me? Your recommendation, with my letter of introduction from home, will be all that is necessary for him to accommodate me."

"I don't like to refuse you," said the clerk, "but it is against the rules of the house to indorse any paper for the guests."

"But I don't want that, you know. Just a letter of introduction will answer my purpose. You see, I wish to send home a few letters about my jaunt in the States, and I'd not like to have the officer in charge of the post refuse them because I am a stranger, you know."

The clerk would not have been more surprised if an actor had registered at the hotel without asking for cheap rates or some other favor.

"You mean to say," asked the clerk, "that you want to mail some letters, but you are afraid they won't go unless you have a letter of introduction to the postmaster?"

"Quite so. You can dash off a few lines in a minute."

"Yes; but it is not necessary. Just put your initials in the lower left hand corner of the envelope. The postmaster knows you are stopping here. He will recognize the initials when he is assorting the London mail, and your letters will receive the best of care."

"You are kind," said the Englishman, perfectly satisfied with this assurance. "I'll do that, thank you."

The clerk sighed as the guest walked away. "There is plenty of cleverness in England," he murmured; "but that chap is like the man who fell out of a balloon—he isn't in it."—Chicago Tribune.

Congressional Twins.

There are two men on the Republican side of the house who look enough alike to be twin brothers. They are Louis E. McComas, of Hagerstown, Md., and William D. Owen, of Logansport, Ind. McComas is a sharp, shrewd lawyer and Owen has been a minister of the Christian church. The former is a member of the committ ceon appropriations and the latter is chairman of the committee on immigration and naturalization. The District of Columbia appropriation bill was the first appropriation bill passed. McComas drove it through the house with lightning like speed. It is said that several Washingtonians congratulated the Rev. Mr. Owen on the ability he had displayed in securing the appropriations for the district and asked him into the restaurant to have something.

McComas' experiences are, however, not so pleasant. The doorkeepers say that he was recently stopped at the corridor by a matronly lady, wearing black lace mitts and gold eye glasses, who threw up both hands on seeing him and said: "La! Brother Owen, how do you do? Why, I haven't seen you in a dog's age!"—Cor. Chicago Times.

Cloth from Broken Glass.

A new and interesting invention has recently been given a practical test—namely, a machine for making cloth from waste glass. Besides utilizing hundreds of tons of a broken and useless substance the textile produced will have many advantages over all other fabrics; it is incombustible, can be manufactured in all colors and of any desired strength or thickness. The one property of incombustibility will render it invaluable to those working near or with fire. It is also used for ladies' dresses and for other purposes, in place of silk, and it is said to be more glossy and lustrous and is more easily washed. It is stated to have all the appearances characterizing silk, being as soft and even more elastic. Its usefulness will of course depend much on its durability.—British Warehouseman.

Cause and Effects.

First Theatrical Manager (meeting a brother manager at the entrance to the house of representatives)—Hello! what were you doing in there?

Second Manager—I am studying some new effects in the way of a mob for next season.—Puck.

Quite Another Thing.

Tom Dicer—Why did you give up your room with Mrs. Borden, Jack? I thought she treated you like a mother.

Jack Uppers—No, indeed; she treated me like a son.—Puck.

There is a colored man in Galveston who is worth over $350,000. He has a fine house in the most desirable residential portion of the city, and his wife employs none but white servants.

THE TEXAN COWBOY.

He Is Manly, Generous, Bold, Fearless, Warmhearted and Has Small Feet.

Cowboy life has in the last few years lost much of its roughness. The cattle barons have discharged most of the men who drank and have frowned so persistently upon gambling that little of it is done. On the ranches kept under fence they have little to do when not on the drive or in branding time, the cattle being all safely inclosed. But they must take their turns at line riding, which means a close inspection of the fences and the repair of all breaks and damages. Where night overtakes them there they sleep, staking their horses and rolling themselves in their blankets. These rides of inspection take days to accomplish, for there are ranches in Texas which extend in a straight line over seventy-five miles. Those ranches which are not kept under fence necessitate more work. The boys must then keep their cattle in sight, and while allowing them to graze in every direction must see that none in the many thousands stray beyond the limits of their own particular pastures. They go then in parties, scattering over the territory, for they must cover hundreds of thousands of acres in a day.

It is not a life of hardship, and pays well enough. Everything is furnished to them free and of the very best, and they are paid besides thirty dollars per month. Each party stays out from two to three weeks at a time; but they take with them the finest of camp wagons, with beds and bedding, cooking utensils, the best of groceries of all kinds, and as excellent a cook as money can employ. The prairies are full of game, and their rifles are ever handy. The life is free, fascinating and peculiarly healthy.

These men are exceedingly chivalrous to all women. This seems to be a trait born in them, as much a part of their moral nature as it is of their physical to have small feet, for it is seldom that a genuine Texas cowboy can be found who has not the distinguishing mark of a handsome foot, and his boots are to him all that the sombrero is to a Mexican. He will deny himself many pleasures, he will go without a coat and be seen in most dilapidated attire, but his boots must be of the best and most beautiful make that the country can afford; high of heel and curved of instep, a fine upper and thin sole, fitting like a glove and showing the handsome foot to perfection.

Take the cowboys as a class, they are bold, fearless and generous, a warmhearted and manly set, with nothing small, vicious nor mean about them, and Texas need not be ashamed of the brave and skillful riders who traverse the length and breadth of her expansive prairies.—Lee C. Harby in Harper's.

Erastus Wiman's Early Start.

Erastus Wiman probably gets at work earlier than any other business man of prominence in New York. He is not afraid of impairing his appetite for breakfast by looking over his business correspondence, and as a rule he has finished a good share of his work before the majority of men have started for their offices. He begins to dictate the answers to his letters at 6:30 in the morning in the summer and at 7 in the winter. His stenographer, who is an energetic young man and a quick and accurate writer, calls at Mr. Wiman's house on Staten Island long before the family is astir with the morning's mail, which is brought by a messenger from New York.

Mr. Wiman looks over the mail and dictates the letters rapidly. At 8 o'clock the stenographer starts for New York, while Mr. Wiman sits down to breakfast with his family. By the time he gets to his office and has got rid of the first hour's routine work the letters which he has dictated are written out and ready for his signature. His regular hour for seeing people on business matters is between 12 and 1, but they are after him pretty much all day long. Gray hairs are beginning to appear in the abundant thatch of brown hair that crowns his head, but they are the only tangible indications of the result of beginning the business day at 6:30 in the morning.—New York World.

Peculiarities of the Turquois.

The turquois, called in former times Turkis or Turkey stone, is a light blue stone, sometimes translucent, usually opaque. It is both oriental and occidental; the former is the best. It is found in reniform or stalacticic masses, never in crystal. It comes from Persia, China, Arabia, Thibet, Silesia and Saxony, and has been found in our western territories. It is nearly one-half alumina, and strikes fire with steel. There is a bone or fossil turquois found in Languedoc, France. It is called turquois bricard, and is softer than the oriental.

In color the turquois is white, blue and azure blue and greenish blue, but only fine blue stones are prized. The color of the stone is subject to change, particularly if brought in contact with musk, camphor or other scents and with acids, but some ancient stones are in existence that have not changed color.—Keystone.

When you buy oars in small quantities you get them by the pair, but in large quantities they sell by the foot. Lowest retail prices are about $1.25 a pair; but those who purchase by the foot can get oars as low as $1.10 a pair. A smart sailorman, keen at a bargain and acquainted with the second hand places, can buy considerably under prices quoted to the landsman.

Rats Killed by a Horse.

Roscoe Franklin, Brockton, Mass., owns a bay horse known by the name of Shiloh that is possessed of a peculiar accomplishment. Mr. Franklin's stable, a rather old building, is infested by rats that give the horses much trouble, stealing their food and making themselves pests generally. It began to be observed a short time since that in Shiloh's stall there was to be found every morning one or more of the rodents dead, the crushed bodies of which indicated that they had died violent deaths, but what that death was remained a mystery until one of the stablemen discovered that the big bay was himself their executioner.

He was then watched at the work, and the strategy and cunning of the animal is said to be remarkable. He will stand over a rat hole for any length of time without stirring, his ears alert and his eyes fixed on the hole. Then as the rat breaks cover abruptly and hurriedly, as they always do, Shiloh brings down the sharp hoof of his uplifted foot upon his little but harassing foe, crushing the life out of him, and if he fails to strike the wily creature will overtake him with outstretched neck, and seizing him in his powerful teeth throw him against the side of the stall, thus breaking his back.

It is but seldom that this curious ratter fails to kill his prey. The horse actually seems to enjoy the sport, for he will repeat the trick again and again, and if any one stands and watches him at it he will, without ceasing to be on the qui vive for the rat for an instant, occasionally turn his intelligent eye on the spectator, as if to say, "I'll get him yet."—Cor. Philadelphia Times.

The Intelligence of the Car Horse.

The street car horse has no name. In the stable he has a number, but during business hours he is without any particular identity. His driver seldom addresses him except in the way of objurgation, and, having no faith in the power of a cheery voice, relies mainly upon his stub of a whip for an increase of speed on the part of his team. In the early days of street railroad travel the cars were provided with poles and the horses hampered by much unnecessary harness. The poles have gone out, and so has most of the harness, and now there is nothing left to impede the animal's movements except the load, often a dead load, behind him. After a horse has supplied a part of the motive power for a car for a few months he develops a considerable degree of astuteness and intelligence.

He knows that when the bell rings there is a stop to be made, and comes gradually to a halt of his own accord. Another ring and he is on the move again. There is one point, however, at which his intelligence or power of reasoning stops. Up to date he has not succeeded in "getting on to" the summer whistle. Its tones, ear piercing and weird as they usually are, are entirely beyond his conception. Modulation in tones makes no impression on his brain, and in the days when the whistle is heard in the land he stops and starts solely at the suggestion of his driver.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Bit Me Too.

The old doctor and the old captain were fast friends, both inveterate jokers and both, despite their aggregate sixscore years, rabid sportsmen. The doctor's frightful stammer did not seem to impede the flow of a joke, nor did the captain's equatorial girth lessen his agility.

One afternoon the old men set out on a rabbit hunt. As they passed through an orchard something scurried into a burrow.

"A r-r—wist—rabbit!" shouted the doctor. "L-l-let's p-pull him out;" and kneeling at the hole he thrust his arm in up to the shoulder. "S-s-say!" he remarked after a moment's fumbling, "I c-c—wist—can't q-quite g-get h-him. Y-y—uh—you t-try it, John; y-y—uh—your arm's l-longer than m-m—wist—mine."

The captain knelt and thrust his arm down. In an instant he was executing a war dance around the tree, waving a bloody finger.

"Blankety-blank-blank! That's no rabbit. It's a ground hog."

"D-d—wist—did he bite you, J-John?" queried the doctor, anxiously.

"Bite? Blankety-blank! Don't you see he took off the whole end of my finger?"

"Wh-wh—uh—why, that's t-too b-b—wist—bad," said the doctor, taking his own hand from behind him and showing a sadly lacerated thumb. "H-he b-b—wist—bit me too!"—Harper's.

Got Out of Bed on the Wrong Side.

A young lady in this city who is a light sleeper, and who is on that account depended upon to awaken her brother, a fireman, in case of a night alarm, was badly left the other night on the occasion of alarm, hearing which she arose and proceeded as usual to shout for her brother. Having done this to her satisfaction she returned to her bed and sleep. On awakening in the morning she ascertained to her mortification that she had got out of bed on the wrong side, and had been shouting into a closet instead of through the usual door, and her brother, the fireman, had not heard her at all.—Newport Enterprise.

Had Been There Before.

Miss Finn (of Vassar)—Paw, don't spread your napkin over your breast; it's excessively vulgar.

Papa Finn—I have simply spread the napkin as a flag of truce, my child. I will take it down when the waiter removes that butter.—Chicago Tribune.

WIFE-BEATERS.

An observing citizen has discovered that by actual count there are thirteen wife-beaters in and around Sonoma. The wives of several of these brutes have been unmercifully beaten of late, and it has been no uncommon thing to hear their piercing screams while their lords and masters were were beating and cuffing them around. The victims dare not appeal to the courts for protection, as that would involve the family in scandal and ultimately result in another beating. The result has been that the wife-beater when in an ugly mood usually vents his anger on his unoffending wife for the simple reason that he does not fear arrest and takes no chances of getting his hide torn by a weak, defenseless woman.

In the interest of public morals this wife-beating should be stopped. Nobody but a brute would raise his hand to strike a woman, much less a faithful, devoted wife. It is about time these contemptible cowards were sat down upon by the respectable portion of this community. It ought to be made so disagreeable for them that they be compelled to get out.

THERE are many well-meaning people who seem to have but little idea of the labor and expense of issuing a representative local paper. They open their local journal and find all the happenings of the town carefully arranged under proper headings. They see correspondence from every section of the country giving a reliable and succinct epitome of all the current local news. They frequently express compliments that are appreciated, concerning the industry and enterprise of the local editor, and when they have paid for a year's subscription they imagine their obligation ceases. They never stop to think that the subscription list of a local paper will not furnish revenue enought to pay the wages of the compositors. No local paper can prosper unless it has a good advertising patronage and unless it gets all the job work that legitimately belongs to it. Men frequently and thoughtlessly give orders for work to be done away from home, that can be done just as well and for the same money at their doors. The intent is not to cripple the home paper, but that is the result. How inconsistent it is for the business man to go to the local paper and enlist its support of an enterprise that will insure to his benefit, and then go home and use a red rubber stamp on his letter heads and bill heads. That is economizing in the wrong direction. There is no surer or safer method of gauging the enterprise and public sprit of any community than by the support that is given to the local newspaper.—Dixon Tribune.

THE subject of planting shade trees along our thoroughfares is often discussed, and many citizens have interested themselves in urging this work to be prosecuted. It is a project so easily and cheaply carried out, and its results are so beneficial and profitable that the wonder is that any property-owner should not have a row of trees in front of his premises. The pepper is one of the most beautiful of shade trees, and is so easily and quickly grown that it needs but to be started and staked up to soon develop into a handsome tree. Plant trees along the streets.—Pasadena Star.

The World Enriched.

The facilities of the present day for the production of everything that will conduce to the material welfare and comfort of mankind are almost unlimited and when Syrup of Figs was first produced the world was enriched with the only perfect laxative known, as it is the only remedy which is truly pleasing and refreshing to the taste and prompt and effectual to clense the system gently in the Spring time or, in fact, at any time and the better it is known the more popular it becomes.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS.

SATURDAY, July 18, 1890.

The decision of the Superior Court having been rendered upholding the action of the Board of Supervisors in letting the contract for the construction of the new bridge at Glen Ellen, Mr. Cady moved that said bridge be accepted and upon the filing of a proper bill that the balance due, $1,850, be paid. So ordered.

On motion of Mr. Smith the sum of $147 was ordered transferred from the general fund to the Santa Rosa and Occidental road fund for the purpose of defraying the expense of constructing an extension of thirty-six feet to the Laguna bridge.

Board of Equalization.

SATURDAY, July 19.

The assessment of the Sonoma County Water Company was raised $1,765 for the present fiscal year.

The application for reductions in the assessment of W. H. Hyde, John Cyrus and Henry Rubke were set for further hearing on Thursday, July 24th.

Infernal Ingenuity.

Could scarcely devise more excruciating tortures than those of which you see the evidences in the face of a rheumatic or neuralgic sufferer. The agonies are the consequence of not checking rheumatic or neuralgic attacks at the outset. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters have been found by skillful medical practitioners to possess not only remedial, but defensive efficacy, where those diseases exist, or a tendency to them is exhibited. Surely this puissant but safe botanic medicine, bearing, too, such specific sanction, is better than the poisons often employed, but most unsafe, not only in continuance but in isolated doses. The blood is depurated thoroughly from the rheumatic virus, and the nerves, slightly impurged upon, saved from ultimate and direful throes by this benign, saving medicine, which likewise exhibits marked efficacy for malaria, kidney complaints, dyspepsia, constipation and liver complaint.

A Wonderful Book.

Over 200 hundred years have passed by since the publication of the Pilgrim's Progress. In that time the world has made wonderful advances—has forgotten, or outgrown hundreds of thousands of books. Yet this same Pilgrim's Progress written in Bedford jail by a common tinker 200 years ago is to-day read in more languages and by more people of all classes than any other book in the civilized world, the Bible alone excepted.

A grand memorial edition has just been published—to be sold at a price within the reach of all, and yet to be the finest edition in print. The book is richly illustrated with over 100 of the grandest and most wonderful engravings which has ever appeared in a work of this kind. Superb character delineations, magnificent and realistic illuminated plates painted in oil colors, valuable Bible references, together with a life of the famous author and the beautiful poem "The Little Pilgrim," make this great memorial edition one which will be eagerly sought after by all. It offers the book agent an unequalled opportunity for a rich harvest.

The History Company of San Francisco are the publishers, and their advertisement will be found in another column.

110 ARTISTS 110.

With John Robinson's Circus Which Exhibits Here on Tuesday, August 19th.

Among the many notable peformers with this mammoth exhibition, are twenty bareback riders among whom are five lady equestriennes. Immediately after the grand tournament parade around the huge hippodrome track, the patrons of the show are given an exhibition of daring horseback riding by four ladies in the four different rings at one and the same time. There are also hurdle riders, jockey riders, menage riders, four, five and six-horse riders, and a boy nine years old who rides, drives and manages thirty-one ponies around the hippodrome track.

Both Ankles Crushed.

In a railroad smash up in 1876, I had both ankles badly crushed. Soon after Blood Poison set in, and both legs, from my knees down, were covered with ulcerated sores, that refused all efforts to heal. I was virtually helpless for ten years, being bedridden most of the time. During all the time I was attended by the best physicians in this section of the State, and must have taken a cart load of medicine, without receiving any relief or being benefited in any way. In 1887 I was induced to try Swift's Specific (S. S. S.) I commenced to improve from the first dose, and continued to get better, until to-day I am as sound and well as any man in the universe. This was two years ago, since which I have had no return of sores or any pain in my legs. From my experience I conscientiously believe that Swift's Specific (S. S. S.) has no equal as a blood purifier, and I cheerfully recommend it to any one suffering from any disease of the blood.

McELROY—In Sonoma, July 25, 1890, to the wife of Wm. McElroy, a daughter.

Deafness Can't be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the muscus lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflamation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucus surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness, (caused by catarrh,) that we cannot cure by taking Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Remarkable Rescue.

Mrs. Michael Curtain, Plainfield, Ill., makes the statement that she caught cold, which settled on her lungs; she was treated for a month by her family physician, but grew worse. He told her that she was a hopeless victim of consumption and that no medicine could cure her. Her druggist suggested Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption; she bought a bottle and to her delight found herself benefited from the first dose. She continued its use and after taking ten bottles, found herself sound and well, and now does her own housework and is as well as she ever was.—Free trial bottles of this Great Discovery at Ed. ## THE LATEST RAILROAD RUMOR.

A Transcontinental Line Through Sonoma.

Another railroad scheme is in the air, and the oracles are discussing its pros and cons. This time it is the Great Northern. This Great Northern, it is the report, is about to extend its line from Butte City to Ukiah, absorb the San Francisco and North Pacific, and give San Francisco a transcontinental line via Sonoma. Surveyors are now at work between Glen Ellen and Santa Rosa. Henry D. Minot, President of the Eastern Railway of Montana, which is a part of the great Northern system, arrived in San Francisco recently, ostensible on a pleasure trip. He had been there only a few days when he was followed by F. C. Cruger, purchasing agent of the same road, who shipped from St Louis a car-load of office furniture, which it is argued looks as though they meant to do some work on the Coast.

It is known that the Seligmans are interested in this road, and that they recently sold Great Northern bonds in London to the amount of $10,000,000. It is also known that they hold Donahue bonds to the amount of $100,000, and from these facts those high and wise in the "council of the mysteries" draw a conclusion—the conclusion that the Great Northern will extend its lines from Butte to San Francisco. Surveys have been made as far as Boise City, from which point the line will extend in a southwesterly direction to Fort Bidwell, and, crossing the Southern Pacific track a few miles north of Redding, will run south through Mendocino county, connecting with the Donahue line at Ukiah.

A Social Hop in the Redwoods.

Last Wednesday evening a large number of Brown's Valley young folks and several from Sonoma assembled at the residence of John Hein in the redwoods a few miles north of Sonoma for a social hop. The second story of the large wine cellar was cleared for dancing and excellent music was furnished by Gerardi's string band of San Francisco. At 12 o'clock refreshments were served to which all did ample justice. One young lady furnished a bachelors' cake which caused considerable amusement, being stuffed with cotton. After supper a vocal solo by Joe Hein, accompained by G Gerardi, was well rendered and dancing was again resumed and continued to 4 A. M. All present report a very pleasant time. Among those present were:

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Bordwell, Sonoma; Albert Estes, Sonoma; Miss Lizzie G. Hein, Sonoma; Chas. Hein, Glen Ellen; Mrs. Taylor, San Francisco; Mrs. J. Skivington, San Francisco; Miss Katie Fisher, San Francisco; Carrie Roth, Walter Maynard, [illegible] Roth, Nellie Maynard, Gussie Roth, Ida Maynard, Chas. Roth, Annie Jackson, Calla Maynard, Ollie Townsend, Willie Roth, Herman Dado, Louis A. La Franca, F. N. Chapman, Henry Thedans, Brown's Valley; C. Clausen, C. Metcalf, F. G. Brownlee, Mr. and Mrs. John Hein, J. McKay, F. A. Hein, P. J. Hein, G. Gerardi of San Francisco.

Residence Burned Near South Los Guilicos.

Tuesday afternoon E. W. Drummond's residence burned to the ground. An Italian lady was in the kitchen cooking when the roof, by means of a defective flue, caught fire. Before help arrived the house was doomed. Very little furniture was saved. The entire library of Mr. Drummond was lost. It was valued at $300. By hard work the barn was saved. One out-house was also burned in which two men were living. The fire burned over about five acres of pasture, when it was gotten under control. The house was insured. Mr. Drummond was away from home at the time.

The wires here have been kept warm with bridge communications. Last Saturday evening the bridge was again thrown open to the public.

Many strangers are rusticating here, among whom are Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Cleffort of New Zealand. Mrs. Cleffort is here for her health, and is much pleased with the climate and close communication with the city.

A. Harrison is building a foot bridge, which will span the washout caused by the sweeping away of the bridge last winter. The foot bridge opens from one end of the iron bridge and connects with the grounds of the hotel.

Happy Hoosiers.

Wm. Timmons, Postmaster of Idaville, Ind., writes "Electric Bitters has done more for me than all other medicines combined, for that bad feeling arising from Liver and Kidney trouble." John Leslie, a farmer and stockman, of the same place, says: "Find Electric Bitters to be the best Kidney and Liver medicine made me feel like a new man." J. W. Gardner, hardware merchant same town, says: "Electric Bitters is just the thing for a man who is all run down and don't care whether he lives or dies; he found new strength, good appetite and felt just like he had a new lease on life. ### Items of Interest in the Upper Part of the Valley

Martin Peters went to Santa Rosa last Monday.

I. DeTurk is preparing to build some new outhouses.

Mrs. J. Walters went to San Francisco last Monday.

Mrs. Henry Farmer has returned to her home in Fresno.

Miss Theresa Goess passed through town last Sunday.

Miss Gray has gone to Two Rock valley to spend the summer.

J. Quinn of San Francisco is spending a few days on the Montecello Ranch.

Jerry Lafferty and Fred Justi left Tuesday for a hunt in Mendocino county.

Mrs. J. A. Shaw received a telegram that her husband had arrived in Oregon safe.

Every day men can be seen passing here on their way to the State Farm looking for work.

The Bihler boys are gathering their potato crop off the lots they purchased in Boomtown.

Adam brothers of Vallejo have purchased all the 4-foot wood on the Drummond ranch.

Miss Lulu Law, who has been in Red Bluff for several months, is expected home in a few days.

Felix Patten returned from Vacaville last week, and is very sick with inflammation of the bowels.

Samuel Hutchipson commenced heading his grain this week. Fred Kerridge will commence in a few days.

W. E. McKinley and family of Santa Rosa are [illegible] camping in this vicinity [illegible] a few weeks.

An immense forest fire can be seen from here. It is in Napa county and has been burning for several days.

Ike Wright, the handsome man of Glen Ellen, has grown four feet one inch in the last two weeks. He has killed four deer so far.

Henry Farmer and wife and Jerry Farmer and wife and Harry Weise and partner all went to Santa Rosa last Monday night to attend the theater. They all say "The Old Homestead" is the boss of 'em all.

Frank Newman of Red Bluff, formerly of Sonoma, had a lamp explode in his hands one day last week, setting fire to the house and burning it and two others down. Frank's many friends in this valley sympathize with him in his loss.

A. McElroy, the contracter who is to build the Home for Feeble Minded Children below Glen Ellen, was in town last Friday looking for working men. He says he will give employment to a large number of men from now on until the Home is completed.

The Glen Ellen Pool club held its election last Saturday night and after "several rounds" the following walked off with the "bread and cheese." Grand Leader, C. C. Weise; Asst. Grand Leader, J. H. Weise; Scratchetary, F. P. Green; Keeper of Points, F. M. Luttrell; Treasurer, Henry Coops.

Fred Green called on us last Tuesday. He is looking still handsomer after his camping trip. Fred carried off the laurels for he killed more deer than any of 'em. The party met with but one accident which fortunately was without injury to any one. One of the wagons upset with its five occupants, but no one was hurt. Fourteen deer lost their lives at the hands of the campers. Every one of the hunters killed a deer except Fred Kerridge.

The hotel at this place would be full to overflowing if the stage, owned and run by the Boomers of Boomtown went to meet all trains. Some of the pleasure seekers would come via the Donahue route and return by the Southern Pacific, but they get as far as Glen Ellen and having no way to get up here, either go to the Mervyn and enjoy the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Harrison or return home disgusted with Boomers and Boomtowns.

Last Friday Mr. and Mrs. Gilmour, Mr. Gilmour's brother and Mr. Hecker passed through town on bicycles, and created quite a sensation, for Mrs. Gilmour is the first lady rider who has ever traveled through this valley on a bicycle. They started from San Francisco and visited all the springs and summer resorts in Napa to Calistoga, then from Mark West to Glen Ellen, where they took the train for San Francisco. They attracted attention throughout the trip.

Last Friday Mrs. Hink and child, Miss Nellie Read and sister, Mrs. George Hayes, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Luttrell and Mrs. J. K. Luttrell passed through town. They were out visiting the various residences, vineyards and orchards of the valley. Mrs. Hink is well and favorable known throughout the valley and at present resides in the Bay City. Mrs. George Hayes resides in Ora Fino, Siskiyou county. Among the many places visited was the site for the Home of Feeble Minded Children. They were all allowed to return home as the institution is not ready for patients.

McGINTY.

He Suggests the Building of a Villa Hotel.

A Genuine Submarine---Concert at Glen Ellen.

DEAR GRANICE:

What glorious weather! What a magnificent climate! Were any people ever blessed with purer atmosphere? Sonoma Valley can boast of a climate unexcelled by Italian climes. I often hear the inquiry in San Francisco: "Why don't some one build a villa hotel in Sonoma Valley that will accomdate hundreds." Its climate and temperature excels Southern California. Yet thousands go to the latter place at heavy expense to find no better climate than can be found in Sonoma. The expense of getting to Sonoma is almost nothing. The only reply is there is no hotel to accommodate the thousands of San Franciscans that would visit Sonoma if they could find hotel accommodations equal to those of Southern California.

Sonoma wants a villa hotel that will accommodate 500 people at the same time. There are large numbers of such hotels in the southern part of the State. They are well patronized by Eastern tourists and the business people of the metropolis. A hotel that would accommodate the thousands who would visit Sonoma would be a paying investment and prove a mint, financially speaking, to the beautiful valley of Sonoma. Hundreds of thousand dollars would be spent in the valley. The good old town of Sonoma would eventually become a famous summering resort for the fashionable, and business of every kind would prosper.

The people of Sonoma Valley could afford to [illegible] such a hotel. The little wolf rose da Caliente is always crowded with guests and would be crowded if enlarged to [illegible] times its present capacity. The Mervyn at Glen Ellen is always full during the summer, as is also the Union in Sonoma. First-class accommodations are always in demand in this the loveliest valley in the State.

A GENUINE SUBMARINE.

Thos. J. Ryan, a bright young limb of the law of San Francisco, has been spending a week at the Williams cottage at Glen Ellen. Mr. Ryan is delighted with the country, the climate of Sonoma Valley and its people. He is talking of building a villa cottage or summer residence in the valley. I started out, however, to say that Tom, as he is familiarly called by his many friends, is a submarine. Being anxious to meet McGinty he disrobed himself and plunged into a deep hole in Sonoma creek near Boomtown. If there is one thing Tom is an adept at it is swimming. He swims like a stone. He goes straight to the bottom. Tom found the bottom and it proved harder than his classic face, for when he came to the surface he looked as though McGinty had passed him through a threshing machine. Court plaster is now in demand. Hereafter Tom will not only wade through legal lore, but also through shallow water.

CONCERT AND HOP.

We are to have a first-class concert and hop at the Mervyn, Glen Ellen, this (Saturday) evening. Miss Fannie Ryan, one of the sweetest singers and most accomplished young ladies of San Francisco will take part. She will be assisted by some of the finest vocalists on the coast. It will be a rare treat. Mr. Editor, you and your better half must be present and enjoy yourselves among your many friends of Glen Ellen and South Los Guilicos, for they are legion. Mrs. McGinty and her liege lord will be there in all their glory.

Mr. Editor, may the good lord bless you and not call you too soon is the prayer of

McGinty

LOVE'S CHANGES.

Has summer come without the rose,
Or left the bird behind?
Is the blue changed above thee,
O world, or am I blind?
Will you change every flower that grows,
Or only change this spot—
Where she who said: "I love thee"
Now says: "I love thee not?"

The skies seemed true above thee;
The rose true on the tree;
The bird seemed true the summer through;
But all proved false to me.
World, is there one good thing in you—
Life, love, or death—or what?
Since lips that sang "I love thee"
Have said: "I love thee not?"

I think the sun's kiss will scarce fall
Into one flower's gold cup;
I think the bird will miss me,
And give the summer up.
O sweet place, desolate in tall
Wild grass, have you forgot
How her lips loved to kiss me,
Now that they kiss me not?

Be false or fair above me;
Come back with any face,
Summer; do I care what you do?
You cannot change one place—
The grass, the leaves, the earth, the dew—
The grave I make the spot,
Here where she used to love me,
Here where she loves me not.
—Arthur O'Shaugnessy.

An Interrupted Prayer.

Some seventy years ago, when a menagerie was almost a thing unknown, and a solitary wild beast was now and then carried about the country for exhibition, a certain New England village was thrown into great commotion by the news that an elephant was to be exhibited in a neighboring town. The village which is the scene of my story was not large enough to induce his exhibitors to make any stay there, but his road lay through it. Now an elephant could not be packed away or in any manner be kept out of sight. His journey must be made in full view, and everybody could get a look at him, and everybody was excited accordingly. Day after day passed—no elephant.

The exhibition had been advertised for a Monday, and Saturday night had come, with no tidings of the famous traveler. Sunday morning! The "sound of the church going bell" summoned the people. Parson Adams had begun "the long prayer" and the congregation stood devoutly attentive to all appearance. But there was at least one exception, for Dr. Dobson's pew, near an open window, commanded a view of the highway, and Dr. Dobson's eyes, wide open, were fixed upon the prospect. A cloud of dust arose—then slowly above the hill opposite the window the head of a huge beast came into sight. The eager doctor forgot time and place, and shouting, "The elephant's coming! there he is!" he was out of the window like a dart. Off rushed the congregation, and whether Parson Adams finished his prayer tradition has not told.—Wide Awake.

One Young Man's Bad Break.

I try to keep fairly up with the new books of the day, and though I don't want to be pedantic I occasionally speak of a new one that has pleased me. But I rarely find a young man who knows even the names. A few nights ago I entertained a young fellow who is, I am told, considered very clever in Wall street. He is a college bred man, one from whom one might be justified in expecting fair average information on literary matters. But in college he had gone in for athletics, he said, and since that time he had been swallowed up in business, and when I spoke of some new writers he plumply professed his ignorance even of their names. Well, I could have forgiven that; it's so hard to keep up nowadays. But when I spoke of Hawthorne; dear old Hawthorne, and he responded with enthusiasm that he had read him—read "The Red Letter A"—I made up my mind that he was unforgivable.—Interview in New York Evening Sun.

Hoist with His Own Petard.

A stranger when dining at the hotel was accosted by a detective, who said to him: "Beg your pardon, we are in search of an escaped convict, and as a matter of form you will oblige us by showing your passport."

"Do I look like a convict?"

"Possibly not. In any case I shall require to see your passport."

The stranger, feeling annoyed, presented the officer with the bill of fare, and the latter began to read:

"Sheep's head; neck of mutton; pig's feet." * * *

"Very good!" he observed; "the description tallies; you will please come along with us."—Gazette Piemontese.

French poets have frequently compared a man's existence to a lighted pipe, whose contents pass off in smoke and ashes. In an old volume of the Eighteenth century, entitled "Morale de Guerard," there is an engraving representing a young man smoking a clay pipe, and the legend calls him the "Universal Portrait." This is followed by a queer old piece of poetry comparing everybody to a lighted pipe.

"What were you about to remark?" said one man to another. "Nothing." "But you looked as if you had something to say." "Yes, I'm very deceptive that way. I've often thought myself that I had something to say, and discovered after I had said it that I hadn't."

Instead of paying the clergyman a cash fee the bridegroom the other day presented to the divine who officiated a set of vestments and an ecclesiastical ring engraved on the inside to commemorate the occasion.

John Tracy had stolen fifty horses in his time and was writing a book about it in Kansas City when he was arrested and locked up. And thus is literary endeavor rewarded.

MISCELLANEOUS.

CUPID'S HARNESS.

Most women naturally look forward to matrimony as their proper sphere in life, but they should constantly bear in mind that a fair, rosy face, bright eyes, and a healthy, well-developed form, are the best passports to a happy marriage. All those wasting disorders, weaknesses, and functional irregularities peculiar to their sex, destroy beauty and attractiveness and make life miserable. An unfailing specific for those maladies is to be found in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is the only medicine for women, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee from the manufacturers, that it will give satisfaction in every case, or money will be refunded. This guarantee has been printed on the bottle-wrappers, and faithfully carried out for many years. $1.00 per Bottle, or Six Bottles for $5.00.
